intendent Schaff.

Special to The Daily News.

Indianapolis, July 26.—Dr. D. H. Sullivan, a past exalted ruler of Lima Lodge of Elks, while en route home from the Elks' Grand Lodge convention held at Los Angeles, Cal., was severely though not necessarily seriously injured in a wreck which occurred on the Big Four railroad at Zionsville, northwest of this city, Sunday afternoon. He was brought to this city on a special train from the scene of the wreck and is a patient in the Deaconess hospital. The attending physician at the hospital states that he will be able to continue his journey within a day or two.

WIFE IS NOTIFIED.

Superintendent Schaff Declares There Is No Need of Being Alarmed.

Mrs. Sullivan, wife of Dr. Sullivan, received the following telegram, which was dated at Indianapolis yesterday, but which was not delivered here until this morning at her home, corner of North and Baxter streets:

"Indianapolis, Ind., July 25.
"Mrs. D. H. Sullivan.
"Mr. Sullivan was slightly injured

DR. D. H. SULLIVAN, Prominent Lima Dentist, Who Was
One of the Wreck Victims.

In a wreck of our train 10 at Zionsville today. His injuries consist of only a bruised shoulder, leg and foot. We have persuaded him to stay here a day or two at the hospital. We expect him to be able to travel not later than a day after tomorrow. Don't be the least bit alarmed as I have reported all the facts.
"D. F. SCHAFF."

Story of the Wreck.
Indianapolis, Ind., July 26.—Forty-two persons were injured, six of them seriously, in the wreck of Big Four Train No. 16, en route from Chicago to Cincinnati, at Zionsville, seventeen miles northwest of Indianapolis, at 2:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The train, running at a speed of fifty miles an hour, jumped the track, some of the coaches turning over.

There were two hundred passengers in the coaches, and the fact that none were killed, is regarded as miraculous by the railroad officials.

Passengers who were imprisoned in the overturned cars escaped, or were assisted, through windows. Physicians from Zionsville and Indianapolis, and surgeons of the Big Four dressed the victims' injuries, and with the exception of six persons who are now in hospitals in this city, all continued their journey. The cause of the wreck, so far as could be determined by officials of the road, was the dropping of a brake beam or brake shoe from beneath the tender, causing the trucks to pass over the obstruction. The impact thus caused, it is believed, resulted in the derailment of the baggage car, and finally the entire train left the rails.

Cincinnati Clerk Injured.
Clark Beer, a railway postal clerk, who lives in Cincinnati, was crushed beneath several hundred pounds of mail pouches, and it is believed he may have suffered internal injuries.

C. L. Burroughs, another postal clerk, who lives in this city, was bruised by being thrown against a mail pouch rack. C. M. Anthony of Lafayette, another postal clerk, was in the forward end of the car just before the train was derailed, and, believing that the speed was greater than was safe at that point, he retired to the middle of the mail car.

He no sooner had left the front end when the mail car was completely turned over. All of the postal clerks climbed through the windows after it was overturned.

Perhaps the most miraculous escape of the wreck was that of Haskell Wall, a seventeen year old boy of Lebanon, who was riding the "blind" baggage between the baggage and the mail cars. Wall boarded the train at Lebanon and was going to come to Indianapolis.

When he felt the cars swaying from side to side he knew something was wrong, and he jumped from his perch between the two cars. A second after he leaped the cars were turned over, but Wall had jumped far enough to escape being pinned beneath them.

Jump Saved His Life.
"I knew something was wrong when I heard that noise," said Wall, referring to the grinding of the car trucks on the ties.

"I decided that to take my chances by jumping would be better than to risk getting caught beneath the wreck, so I jumped."

Wall suffered a slight cut on his left arm, and he was also cut on the left hip. Friends of Wall who knew he was on the train telegraphed his mother at Lebanon that he had been killed. The mother, frantic with fear, went to Zionsville on an interurban, only to find the young man ready to return to his home.

Chris Fisher of Thornton, who with his wife was on his way to Indianapolis, also had a narrow escape from serious injury. Fisher was riding in the smoker, and just before he started back to the day coach, where his wife was waiting for him, just as he got to the door the car was derailed and the force pitched him back into the coach. When the car stopped again Fisher was thrown out on the ground. Mrs. Fisher climbed through an open window in a partially overturned coach in which she was sitting.

Passengers Were Frantic.
At the scene of the wreck, before the relief train from Indianapolis arrived, there was much confusion. Passengers who had been imprisoned in the overturned cars were frantic. Persons who had been traveling together were separated. All were concerned about the safety of others. This condition prevailed for half an hour, until families and friends were reunited.

Mrs. J. Elsie of Louisville, 76 years old, who was traveling with her son, was in the day coach, and after the wreck she and her son were separated. The mother was anxiously inquiring of bystanders as to the safety of her son. While she was looking for him the son was equally concerned about her.

Weak from excitement and almost frantic with fear for her son, Mrs.

Cleveland, July 26.—That Harry Thaw should have been sent to the electric chair for the murder of Stanford White, was the astonishing statement of the Rev. William W. Bustard at the Euclid Avenue Baptist church Sunday.

The church, which is known generally as Rockefeller's church, was packed when the minister, who came to Cleveland several weeks ago from Boston, began his sermon on "Lessons From the Life of Harry Thaw."

FRENCHMAN WHO OUTGEN-

Special to The Daily News.

Dover, England, July 26.—A vast crowd at sunrise, Sunday morning, gathered near the seashore anxiously to await the arrival of Mr. Louis Bleriot, the aeronaut, who had left Calais, France, at 4:30 a. m., on a flight across the English Channel.

At the town's people were out of bed, and with hundreds of scientists from France and this country, "rubbernecked" to catch the first sight of the flying machine and its bold manipulator.

Their vigilance was rewarded and soon they experienced the keenest thrill known in a generation, when at sunrise this morning a white-winged bird-like machine, with loudly humming motors, swept out from the haze obscuring the sea toward the distant French coast, and circling twice above the high chalk cliffs of Dover, alighted on English soil.

Bleriot calmly descended. A calm Frenchman, Louis Bleriot, a portly and red mouched man of thirty-seven, descended from the saddle limping on a bandaged foot, which had been burned on his previous overland flight.

Immediately two companions who had been waving a big tri-colored flag, a signal for the landing place, fell upon him enthusiastically, embracing him, shouting and pounding him on the back. They, with a few soldiers and others who happened by chance to be on the scene, were the only persons in the immediate vicinity to witness the finish of a most remarkable feat.

Bleriot left Les Baracres, three miles from Calais, about 4:30 a. m., on one of the smallest monoplanes ever used. He crossed the channel in little less than half an hour, twice as swiftly as the fastest sailing boat.

His speed averaged more than forty-five miles an hour, sometimes it approached sixty miles. He kept about 250 feet above the level of the sea, and for ten minutes, while about midway, was out of sight of both coasts and the French torpedo-boat destroyer, which followed him with his wife and friends aboard.

Over a Choppy Sea.
The wind was blowing about twenty miles an hour, and the sea was choppy. The aviator was swathed in a single garment of drilling, impervious to the wind, which covered him from the top of his head to his feet, only his face showing. An eye witness of the landing thus describes it:

"Very early in the morning a wireless message was received from Calais that Bleriot intended to make the flight. Then in quick succession came the news that he had left the land, that he was flying high, and was fast making Dover."

"It was expected that he would land west of Dover, but from the direction taken it was soon evident that he would alight to the eastward. Only a few minutes after the wireless announcing the start, the machine 'out of sight' was received at Dover. Hardly had this been transcribed when the keen-eyed coast guard, scanning the sea with his telescope, shouted that Bleriot was within sight."

Like Gigantic Hawk.
"Hastening to the cliff east of the bay I was fortunate enough to arrive just a moment before the airship, which was flying fast like a gigantic hawk, approached the cliff, growing larger every minute."

"The noise of the engine was audible in a moment, so swiftly did it come. Bleriot swooped over head, glancing from right to left, and then turned his machine to the east and came down in the meadow."

"It circled with consummate ease, and made the landing gracefully, but though it touched the land lightly it was slightly damaged."

By his achievement of yesterday, Bleriot won the prize of $5,000 offered by the London Daily Mail for the first flight across the English Channel and stole a march on his rivals, Hubert Latham and Count de Lambert, both of whom had hoped to make the attempt yesterday.

Bleriot, who speaks a little English, described his remarkable flight very modestly.

New York, July 26.—Bum, the police dog at Bonnevillie, N. Bum's fangs sank into the policeman's thigh, but as soon as he realized the mistake he had made he attacked the prisoner so savagely that he had to be driven off. When Dr. Joseph C. London, July 26.—London for a week has been lively beyond its wont. An element that has added to the interest and excitement of the capital is the presence of practically all the rulers of South Africa to attend the conference at the Colonial Office, which is practically a South African Parliament. President Steyn, General Botha, Dr. Jameson, all of Boer war fame, are in the council.

Outside the conference, chamber wait the representatives of the colored race, whose fate hangs in the balance. The British government is making an unavailing stand on their behalf, but the attempt to safeguard the franchise of the natives of Cape Colony seems hopeless.

After the new constitution is voted, South Africa becomes practically an independent republic, which sacrifices no shred of its sovereignty by graciously consenting to be protected by the British fleet at the expense of the British taxpayer.

The government has fared better at the last by-elections, but the budget will be passed by a compromise by which the clause is not directly necessary for raising this year's income will be abandoned.

ANOTHER WAR SCARE
Expected to Follow Bleriot's Flight Across English Channel.

Special to The Daily News.
London, July 26.—Besides winning The Daily Mail's $5,000 prize for the first aeronaut to cross the English Channel in heavier-than-air machine, Louis Bleriot has also awakened the dormant British fear of continental invasion which has so long operated as a stumbling block in the way of projects for the construction of a tunnel beneath this storm-tossed strait.

The great feats of Count Zeppelin's dirigible balloon aroused this fear to a considerable degree, but now that an aviator has succeeded in landing at a designated point on British territory, twenty-five minutes after ascending from the starting point on the French coast, it is to be expected that England will soon be in the throes of another war scare.

Measures providing for the strengthening of the army will encounter much less opposition in Parliament now than heretofore.

M. Bleriot will arrive in London at noon tomorrow, when Lord Northcliffe will present him with a £1,000 check in behalf of the Daily Mail at a luncheon at the Savoy, at which many prominent men are expected to be present.

H. G. Selridge of Chicago, proprietor of the new American department store in London, has offered to pay $1,000 to the London hospital fund for the privilege of exhibiting Bleriot's aeroplane in his store for three days.

M. Bleriot and the Daily Mail have accepted the offer.

According to the statement made to one of the newspaper correspondents, Bleriot has practically decided to abandon aviation in the near future. He said:

"I have five children and I promised my wife that my coming attempt at the Rheims races shall be my last flight."

Replying to a question as to whether it would have been possible to cross the channel in a bi-plane, Bleriot said emphatically that it would not, because the increased surface of the planes could never have withstood such a wind as he experienced.

BLOOD POISON

Many people suffer from blood poisoning, and it is a very dangerous disease. It is caused by bacteria which enter the blood stream through a wound or a sore. The bacteria multiply and spread throughout the body, causing various symptoms such as fever, chills, and a general feeling of weakness. If not treated promptly, blood poisoning can lead to serious complications and even death.

$500,000 DEPOSITED
AT 5 PER CENT
SAFE, SECURE, CONVENIENT FOR SAVINGS AND DEPOSITS.

Nine years ago The Lima Home & Savings Association began paying 5 per cent for deposits in any amount with privilege of compound interest. On account of the safe and secure manner in which such deposits have been handled, many people of large and small means have accepted the very liberal opportunity of having their funds invested at a rate that is worth while, until nearly $553,000.00 have accumulated, earning 5 per cent. These deposits are used by this Association only for loans on city and farm homes in Lima and vicinity. Nothing but first mortgages are taken to secure these loans; simple insurance is required for the Association's protection, as well as frequent reduction of principal.

Another feature of safety is the annual examination by state authority to which this Association is subjected. The last examination was completed on the 26th of May, 1909, and included an investigation of all of the Association's investments and securities.

All persons with money to lay by at the liberal rate this Association has been paying for many years, who are seeking a place where safety, security and convenience are to be had, in connection of the business, are invited to its office in the Masonic Building, west of the post-office, Lima, Ohio.

Games Today.

Portsmouth at Marion.
Newark at Lancaster.

The team was "It" yesterday, and at no time was there any danger of their being headed. Nelson made his first appearance before a Lima crowd and in his preliminary warm-up showed what he was going to do to Tim Flood's bunch. "Red" had the bug on the visitors and had them walking up to the plate with shaking knees, though Flood, Smith and his opponent, touched him up for two bingles apiece. Freeman was no match for "Red" and got wilder and wilder every inning.

That Awful Second.
In the second "Red" lost his hold on the ball for a minute, and walked a man, but number three fanned, retiring the side to the field. Then it started. Bill Sykes got a safety and stole another; Miller was walked and Foutz got rapped by the ball. Now was the opportunity for Newham to do the high fly act and let Sykes score from third. The fly was a beauty, and big Bill beat the throw in by three lengths. Freeman got wild and hit Weller on the arm. The fans were expecting, for it was Nelson's turn at the plate and the bases were full. Calmly and deliberately "Red" took his war club from its leather case, and walked slowly up to the plate, with that disabbling smile that characterized him all through yesterday's game. The first ball over his head, but, connecting with the next one he hit it in a hook over towards the fair grounds and before it was relayed in, Miller Foutz, and Weller had scored. But this was not all. Fink kept things moving with a single, which scored Nelson. By this time Mansfield was clear up in the air, and Fink, taking advantage of Redman's overthrow to Kettle, got around to third. The little second baseman stayed there for Fink's grounder was easy and Alex planned to short.

Mansfield's Desperate Effort.
Mansfield tried to duplicate Lima's batting in the previous inning, but they only did one-fifth as well, making their only score in the contest. Freeman managed to bat out a single off his adversary, but had to wait on the first bag until Meehan and Gaudinger had come and gone before he could reach farther than second. Smith helped him with a single which he stretched far enough to make that lone tally. When Lima came to bat it looked like "Take me out" from Freeman for he walked both Miller and Foutz, but his outfielders saved him, all three acts being on high fly.

"Red" Opened Up.
"Red" had been laying low, but now he opened up with a war dance delivery that flattened the mound. Ditty was the first victim. Tim Flood got a base, but died there. Kettler fanned, as also did Redman. In this frame Lima made their second installment of runs. Fink got a base on a fumble and Reilly's single scored him. Sykes walked and Miller's single scored Reilly and him.

A Hitting Fest.
From the fourth on, the game turned into a hit and run contest, with Lima playing errorless ball, and too far ahead to be overtaken. The Cigarmakers made scores again in the sixth, seventh and eighth. Reilly and Sykes pulled off a beautiful double steal which was worthy of praise.

VAULABLE PLAYER

The most consistent batter on the New York National League team is "Red" Murray, whose picture is here shown. Murray has played very consistent ball and is one of McGraw's most valued men.

Strike Outs.
Nelson was there with the goods. No wonder Mansfield was easy. Eight of them didn't have nerve enough to make half a swing.

Reports have it that Lancaster's pennant is getting sunburned. A few more games like the first two with the Mansfield bunch and the Lancaster sewed to the rag over the Champs' grandstand will fade into Lima.

Freeman's underhand pitching availed him nothing as he got wilder and wilder as the game advanced. That underhand work don't go with the Cigarmakers.

Red responded nobly to Capt. Fohl's "Q. C. D." signal in the second with the bases full and put himself into line for a hero's medal.

Davy, according to some dope slingers is the best short stop in the league. However that is, his gallant catch of Newham's high drive in the third, and his wonderful one handed stop of a hot grounder from the same source in the fifth certainly showed his mettle.

Alex, Reilly's base running was beyond the comprehension of Mansfield. Every time he started to steal they stood around and gapped.

Nothing was too high for Bill Sykes. He pulled down a wild assist from Weller which prevented Flood from landing safe on third and possibly scoring.

Things looked pretty blue to Reilly in his left pasture as the kid had been having trouble with his eyes and is wearing a pair of blue goggles to protect them from the glare of the sun. They don't seem to bother his judgment in the least.

Fink bids fair to rival Reilly in base running. His stealing has been consistent and successful.

Yesterday the fans were treated to a real live premeditated hunt. Fink had made his single and steal and Pohl was up. Cap. met the ball and rolled it two feet toward first. Fink arrived safe but Pohl was caught. The play brought down a storm of applause from the bleachers.

Have you heard of the billiard hit? It consists of hitting a baseman so hard with the ball that the sphere rolls out of reach before it can be recovered. There was one worked yesterday in the eighth.

ORPHANS DID IT.

Lancaster, O. July 24.—The Newark Orphans jumped on Deconneire Sunday, and hammered out a victory to the fourth inning, after he had walked two men. Benz was invincible. The score:

Newark 00140000—5 9 9
Batteries—Deconneire, Ruttenclutter, and Williams; Benz and Piper.

NO-HIT GAME.

Marion, O. July 25.—Marion beat Portsmouth twice Sunday, both games being full of brilliant plays. Zinch was better than Jackson in the first battle, Marion winning in the eleventh. In the second Manager Lewis pitched his second no-hit game of the season. Farrell's, fielding and batting and the fielding of Williams and Shields featured the double bill. Scores:

VERY FISHY

SOUNDS THIS STORY FROM HOME OF OHIO LEAGUE
CHAMPS.

The Lancaster grocers and their wives who enjoyed the Dahl-Millikan Niagara Falls excursion arrived home on scheduled time last night after a very delightful week's outing.

The train load of 300 grocers had a narrow escape from a serious accident south of Lima on the C. H. & D. when a forceful engineer ran past a siding where his orders said he should lay to let the fast mail train go by and when he was reminded by the conductor the train lovingly had time to get back on the siding as the fast mail train shot by, barely avoiding a collision.—Lancaster Eagle.

HORSES

THAT HAVE RACED HERE IN LATE YEARS THEN MADE RECORDS.

LIMA HAS A REPUTATION
UNEQUALLED IN ITS SPHERE.

KIM TEASEL AFTERWARDS
STARRED IN THE FAMOUS
GREENS STABLE.

There is always much interest following a race meeting here in the horses having previously been seen on the local track and have gone out and made history. Below is given a partial list of horses that have raced here during the last four years in our stakes—horses that have, in large or small degree, gained prominence either on the grand circuit or as half-mile track campaigners. The names of the great majority of them will be familiar:

Red Bow—Second in our 2:30 pacing stake of 1905, and first in our 2:25 pacing stake in 1906. Her fastest heat in the latter race was 2:10 1/4.

Alleen Wilson—First money in the 2:16 pacing stake in 1906, and her fastest heat 2:10 1/4.

Leland Onward—Second to Alleen Wilson in the above stake.

Billy Cole—Finished third to the two above, and afterward took a mark of 2:07 at Cleveland.

Virginia Jay—Won first money in our 2:30 trotting stake in 1906, after two heats had been won by Quintell. Her fastest heat, 2:14 1/4. Afterward sold to go abroad.

Quintell—Finished second to the above after having two heats—the fastest, 2:14 1/4. Now in Havers James stable.

The Pacolet—Won our 2:18 trotting stake in 1906. Now owned by David Shaw and driven by Mike McDevitt. Fastest heat, 2:14 1/4.

Henry S., Jr.—Second to The Pacolet in that stake, and last year won seven out of twelve starts in the grand circuit, taking a mark of 2:10 1/4.

Kim—Winner of Lima's first M. & M. in 1906. Took a mark in that race of 2:17, which he lowered last fall to 2:13 1/4, when he beat Athasham, Henry S., Jr., ZaZa, King Entertainer, and May Earl over this track.

Teasel—Third to Kim in Lima's first M. & M., and now in the hands of Mr. E. F. Greens.

Octoe—Won our 2:18 trotting stake in 1907, and took a mark of 2:12 1/4 later, at Lexington, lowering it to 2:10 1/4.

Claty Latus—Winner of Lima's second M. & M. in 1907. Fastest heat, 2:14 1/4.

Alce George—Won the 2:16 pacing stake consolation in 1906. Entered in the Detroit C. of C. this year but did not start. Fastest heat in consolation, 2:13 1/4.

McKag Simmons—Won over 2:15 pacing stake in 1907. Fastest heat, 2:08 1/4. Has taken a mark this year of 2:05 1/4.

Others that have raced here, and afterward spasmodically, in the grand circuit, are Brdrie B., Lydite, May Fern, Ashland Dorf, Little Bride, Billy B., Wild Bell, Peter Batta, Elsie, and Davy K.

Among the entries for class races during the years 1904 to 1907 have been such names as Fedora's Athol (won the opening event of the Detroit meeting in 1907, beating Gentle H., Silver Hand, Quintell, and others), Raoul W. (a famous old half-mile track campaigner, by Dr. Hoker), Robin C., now being raced in matinee by Pickering of Pittsburgh; Little Squaw (you know all about the Squaw and her Swade owner), Dr. W. W. Z., owned by that fine gentleman who drove Queen of Woodcliff, at Detroit, Mr. George Castle; Red Bud, with a record of 2:05 1/4; Citation, Mr. McMahon's bread winner; Elwood, a great old half-miler; Composer, Mr. Lasell's Rubenstein gelding; Colonel Osborne, Darkey Hal, Hal R., Kenneth Mac, Athasham, May Earl, etc. These horses have raced at Lima along with others of less prominence.

Spectators at the Lima park can see horses race over a half-mile track, that later on are to make horse history on the larger tracks. Here we have them in process of making. The general reputation of the association and its methods of conducting racing as viewed by horsemen is far better than that of any half-mile racing association in the country.

WASHINGTON

TOWN IN NEW JERSEY PRESSED HARD BY THE STATE FOR ACTION.

HOLDING AN ELECTION
TO VOTE $60,000 BONDS.

IF THE PROPOSITION IS A FAILURE, STATE WILL BRING A SUIT.

Special to The Daily News.
Washington, N. J., July 26.—With the state holding a club over it to influence the result, the town of Washington is today holding a special election to determine whether the town shall spend $60,000 for the construction of a sewage disposal plant or not. The state says if the town doesn't adopt the proposition it will at once bring suit against the town for polluting the Shabbecong Creek. Individuals who are guilty will also be sued, according to a letter recently received by Mayor Smith from the State Board.

Why the state should issue a threat in advance of the election is the question asked on every side. The townspeople say that if the state board wants to sue, let it sue in the event of the improvement being turned down, but it is overstepping all bounds when it tries to influence the vote of the citizens in advance. It is the greatest case of coercion on a large scale, say the prominent men here, that ever was the accomplishment of an election.

The letter of the state board says that legal steps against the town and individuals are deferred because of the coming election, with the understanding that the majority of voters were in favor of the proposed improvement.

MONDAY, JULY 26, 1909.
20,000 OHIO AUTOMOBILES.

Twenty thousand automobiles have been registered in Ohio, with Cleveland far ahead of any other city or civil division in the state, except of course, the county which includes this great center of motor vehicle interests. A few of these machines are owned and used chiefly in other states and registered in Ohio only because they are brought, now and then, into this commonwealth, but there are many automobiles on the other hand, which are owned in Ohio
and used mainly outside of the state.

It is safe to say that the 20,000
automobiles registered in Ohio represent an investment of at least $20,000,000. They are equal, in average daily mileage, to probably five times as many horse vehicles. They are enjoyed, in the course of a year,
by not less than 300,000 or 400,000
persons, perhaps more than the large number.

Such automobile interests mean much to the Buckeye state. They insure the active prosecution of the campaign for better roads and city streets. They will play an important part in knitting town and country together. The 20,000 horseless vehicles in Ohio will immensely widen and strengthen the knowledge of the state which is possessed by its own citizens. It will be first-hand familiarity with facts of much importance to all Ohioans.

Meanwhile Ohio is building more automobiles than its people buy. Its sales to other states exceed the purchases of motor vehicles from other parts of the country which are made by Ohio men and women. In every phase of the automobile industry this state especially through its chief
city, holds a commanding position.
It is the natural result of courage and enterprise in a new industrial field and of great natural advantages for motor vehicle interests.

Austrian baron kills himself for the love of a Chicago girl. Every-year something happens to make us
think less of some foreign noble-

Chicago police census shows a population of 2,500,000. Still, sev-

Baseball fans should rally to the support of the home and visiting teams during the present series. The status, in fact, the life of the Ohio
State League, is now at stake.
Every admission means just that much of a boost, and Lima really wants to retain baseball.

Of course the new Board of Control, to be composed of the Mayor,
a Public Safety Director and a Public Service Director will have the appointment of a City Engineer.

The taxpayers will soon see what a friend of the people Mayor Becker
really is, if he follows the Columbus

PEOPLE'S PULPIT...

Sermon by

Thieves In Paradise.

"Verily I say unto thee today, thou shalt be with me in paradise" (Luke xxiii, 43).

Seattle, Wash., July 25.—Pastor Russell, of Brooklyn Tabernacle, addressed
the Bible Students' Convention twice today. We publish one of his addresses as follows:

The theology which came down to us
from the dark ages was wonderful in its extremes. It pictured Divine wrath
as unsatisfied with anything short of
an eternity of torture for the sinner,
and in the next breath assured us of a Divine mercy which would take the vilest sinners to an eternity of glory
without character development, merely at their request. One would suppose that neither of these doctrines could command support amongst reasoning,
intelligent people, but they do; and the only explanation of the matter is that
by reason of the fall the balance of human judgment, on moral questions particularly, is sadly undone. It is fair, however, to suppose that the majority of intelligent people have never
so much as given these subjects consideration. Receiving them through the various creeds from childhood's hour, they have swallowed them without reflection, taught that to doubt them
would bring the doubters under the ban of Divine displeasure, and make sure that Divine mercy should never reach them.

Bad Effects of Error.
It is difficult to measure the bad results which have flown from the misinterpretation of our text. (1) The Divine character and government have thereby been traduced and measurably
brought into contempt as unphilosoph-ical, unreasonable, arbitrary. Instead of wise and just. Two vagabonds gambled and quarreled, drew their revolvers and shot each other. The more contemptible of the two killed his antagonist instantly, while he himself lingered in consciousness for a few minutes, during which he had opportunity to say, "God be merciful to me a sinner." The creeds of Protestantism tell us that the one who used the magical words was instantly up-
taken to heavenly glory and companionship with the pure and holy throughout eternity. The other, we are told, though less vile, went instantly to eternal torture and despair,
without a single ray of hope.

Is it any wonder that such unreasonable conclusions have driven many of the brighter minds of Protestantism
into infidelity, and led others back to the teachings of the Church of Rome,
which, to say the least, is more consistent, in that it would put both of the culprits into "Purgatory," where after centuries of torture and instruction in righteousness they might be prepared, either or both of them, for heavenly glory. We are not advocating either infidelity or Romanism; we are defending the Bible, but incidentally must admit that our Protestant views of some portions of Holy Writ
have been very unsatisfactory and very baneful.

(2) We can measure the evil effects
of this doctrine upon thousands, leading them to believe that whatever their crime, a few magical words of repentance will straighten it all out.
Can it be doubted that this wrong
theory is accountable for much of the wickedness committed by those who know better, who reside in civilized lands? First of all they doubt the doctrine of eternal torment, being unable to imagine how any one could burn forever and yet not be destroyed.
Secondly, if there be such a place of eternal torment, they reason, it is quite improbable that they will die so suddenly as not to have time to offer
a petition for mercy—a petition which,
if offered, will surely be heard and
answered, and bring them to the regions of the blessed.

The further reasoning is, that while heaven is certainly desirable, it is useless to seek it via the strait gate and narrow way and self-sacrificing experiences of Jesus and the Apostles and all the saints. The reasoning is, that these saintly ones may indeed occupy
a higher position in heaven than those who are saved after a life of sin and carelessness by a momentary prayer in the dying hour; but the philosophizing
is, that the pleasures of sin for a season more than compensate for the higher glory of the saints, since even
the sinners are to get to paradise of the small cost of nine words—the supposed teaching of our text.

The True Interpretation.
Before proceeding to discuss the principles involved as between the right and the wrong interpretation of our Lord's words, let us notice what
he really did say and really did mean,
and how it happened the true meaning
was lost sight of and the erroneous one adopted generally. The Bible teaching that "the dead know not anything,"
together with the doctrine that the resurrection of the dead is the Divine provision, has long been lost sight of.
Our Lord's own words that "No man hath ascended up to heaven" have been overlooked, and so has his teaching respecting his Kingdom—that the blessing of the Church and of the world awaits his second coming, when he will establish his Kingdom under the whole heavens in power and great glory.
Losing sight of these truths has led directly to the acceptance of the general error respecting our text.

Let us begin the investigation by noting what the dying thief requested.
He had heard his companion berating
our Lord, saying, if thou be Messiah, save thyself and us. He had sufficient character to realize the dishonesty of classifying our Lord with evil doers.
He spoke up, reproving his companion; and then turned to Jesus, and, as a reward, asked, "Lord, remember me
when thou comest into thy Kingdom."
He did not ask to be remembered in heaven, nor that day, but when our Lord, who was then being crucified,
should attain to his Kingdom.

As the thief's request was a reasonable one, our Lord's answer was no less reasonable. He said, in the words of our text, Verily (truly) I say unto thee to-day [this day of my agony and rejection by Israel, and crucifixion by the Roman soldiers; thus day, when I seem to be an impostor and not at all the Messiah; nevertheless, truly I tell you to-day] thou shalt be with me in Paradise. I do not tell you when you shall be with me, nor have you even asked me to tell you. You have asked to be remembered when I come into my Kingdom, when I shall have fully taken control of the Kingdom under the whole heavens, when the speedy result will be that the entire world will become a Paradise, and you have asked my assurance that you will be there, and I will remember you as requested.

Punctuation Not Inspired.
It will be noticed that this different interpretation makes necessary the changing of the comma from before
"to-day" to after it. We remark that the punctuation of our text was surely not inspired, for punctuation was not invented until centuries after our Bible was written. Our interpretation, with the comma after "to-day," makes
this entire passage reasonable and harmonious—consistent with all the remainder of the Bible, and logical.

Further, be it remembered, that Jesus was not in Paradise on the day
he died; nor has Paradise lost, yet been restored. Jesus was dead, and St. Peter declares he "arose from the dead on the third day." He then declared to Mary, "I have not yet ascended to my Father and to your Father,
to my God and to your God" (John xx, 17).

As a matter of fact, the other thief
also will be in Paradise. All mankind, redeemed by our Lord's sacrifice, will have the privilege of the Millennium blessings. As we read, "All that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of Man and come forth." The Church will come forth to the heavenly glory and condition, for which they have been prepared by the trials, the disciplines, the lessons, the chisellings, the polishings, of this present life. Theirs will be the instantaneous change, or resurrection, from earthly to heavenly conditions. Those of the spirit-begotten ones, all who willfully walk after the flesh and not
after the Spirit, having had their trial
in the present life, will be accounted worthy of the Second Death. All the remainder of mankind, not having come to a knowledge of the Truth, but having incurred, therefore, the responsibility of this age, will come forth
during the Millennium when Messiah's Kingdom shall be established and his rule of righteousness shall have brought the earth to the condition of Paradise. Both of these thieves, and all other thieves and all other evil
doers, all of the heathen, all who have not in the present life come to a clear
knowledge of the truth and slaved
against light, against the holy Spirit,
will be there—there to be blessed,
to be enlightened, to be brought to a knowledge of the Truth, and if they will, to be helped out of ignorance,
superstition, sin, weaknesses—mental,
moral and physical.

Not Luck, but Character.
The attaining of eternal life will not be a matter of luck, but a matter of character. It is true at the present time that chance, or luck, would seem to be associated with many of our affairs, except as we are able to view
them in the light of Divine revelation.
Some of us were fortunate to be better born than others—born of religious parents. Some are fortunate in being born in religious communities, and in a land of liberty and enlightenment.
Some are unfortunate in being born in heathen lands, of heathen parentage,
etc. But the Scripture shows that during this present time God is exercising
his sovereign power in electing a special class of special characters, and assures us that a majority of these are being called from amongst the mixed peoples of Europe and America, and that proportionately few are being gathered from other nationalities.

If all of the non-elect were consigned
to eternal torment, or even to Purgatory, a grave injustice would be chargeable against the Almighty Elector. But this is not the case. The Lord is no respecter of persons, but is taking out from the world of mankind, from every nation, those with antiformal characters, those upon whom his Truth and Grace exercise a transforming influence. The non-elect, not worthy of a blessing amongst the faithful of the first class now being selected, pass at death to the tomb, to

the prison house of sheol, hades, where there is no wisdom, knowledge nor device, as the Scriptures declare (Ecclési-astes ix, 10). Although unworthy of a share in the blessings now being dispensed, God's love and mercy pursue after these through Christ, and in their interest the Millennium Kingdom
will be established. Under its domination Satan will be bound, every influence of evil will be restrained, and every good influence will be brought into captivity, to the intent that all those at present non-elect, and unworthy of the present salvation, may be brought to a suitable condition
through the rewards and punishments (judgments) of the Millennium Age.
The result of the purifying influences of that time upon the willing and obedient will be full human perfection
and the reward of everlasting life in Paradise restored—world-wide, under the whole heaven. The result to the unwilling who will resist God's grace
and merciful provisions will be eternal
death—extinction—the Second Death—
Gehenna (Revelation xx, 14, 15).

Character a Prerequisite.

The Bible, in harmony with sanctified common sense, teaches that character is a prerequisite of Divine favor and eternal life. Whoever is called during this Gospel Age and fails to develop character, will fail to attain the reward of life eternal. Similarly, in the world's trial time, or Day of Judgment, the Millennium Age, character will be the test. All the influences of the great Kingdom of Messiah will be exercised with a view to the development of character, and only those properly exercised thereby will get the reward of earthly life eternal.

The question properly arises here,
What kind of character will meet with the Divine approval and be granted the reward of life everlasting? We answer that God has but one standard,
which is fully set forth in the Scriptures. The Law of God is the standard. That Law standard is, "Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with all thy heart, with all thy mind, with all thy being, with all thy strength, and thy neighbor as thyself." As our Redeemer testified, on these two commandments hang all the Law and the prophets; all the divine blessings and promises and covenants are to those who develop the character here described.

World Actually Attains.

The Scriptures show a difference as between God's dealings with the Church in this age and the world in the next age, even though there be but the one Law or standard of character for both. During the Millennium, when everything will be favorable to human uplift, during the "times of restoration of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all the holy prophets since the world began,"
actual obedience to the Divine Law,
and actual attainment of this standard of character, will be required. Not at once, however, "The poor world,"
"born in sin and shapen in iniquity"—
in sin did their mothers conceive them
—are "prone to sin as the sparks to fly upward." Steeped in degradation they will require years, if not centuries,
of determined resistance of sin and cultivation of the principles of righteousness to develop in them absolutely the character required by the Divine Law
—Love supreme for God and Love for the neighbor as for oneself.

During the Millennium the weaknesses and imperfections of the race
will be conceded by the great Teacher,
Christ and the Church—Jesus the Head and the Church his members. The more degraded the will, the more undeveloped the character, the more perverted the conscience and judgment,
the more difficult will be the ascent of humanity from the horrible pit of sin
and death, even with the assistance of the Redeemer. The less degraded the mind, the less perverted the conscience, the stronger the will for righteousness, the easier will be the ascent along the Highway of Holiness,
of which it is written, "The redeemed
shall walk thereon" (Isaiah xxiv, 9).
The lawgivers will receive the "stripes"
of correction for their assistance; the zealous will receive the smiles and blessings of the great High Priest, the great Teacher and Mediator like unto Moses, of whom it is written, "And it shall come to pass, that every soul
which will not hear (obey) that Prophet, shall be destroyed from among the people" (Acts iii, 23). All the reformation must be made during the allotted time—the thousand years of Christ's reign. Sin must be put down—not only outward sin, but inward sin, even in the very thoughts and intents of the heart. Sin must be eradicated, even to the extent of the destruction of the willful sinner in the Second Death.

If the thieves and liars and evil
doers in general would realize that they are either making character
or undermining character every day,
what a helpful influence it would have
upon the social and political and financial life of the world! The effect
would be the very reverse of that which is now made by the false interpretation of our Lord's words to the thief, which we are seeking to correct.

If every pernicious word uttered
were realized to be so much of an undermining influence, if every pernicious thought were similarly recognized, with what carefulness would paupers come to guard their thoughts
and their words, as well as their deeds. They would attentively learn the great general lesson set forth in the Scriptures, and also in the book of nature, namely, "Whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap."
Who shall say that there would not be less "sowing of wild oats" if all were assured that a proportionate crop would be unaccountably reaped, and that no
mere prayer of repentance would constitute an "open sesame" to heavenly glory to the one who had lived a life
deserving reprobation and punishment.

CHAPTER XV.

"HE'S A RUSSIAN NOBLE!"
HE instant he had disappeared Ivanoff crossed rapidly to the small table near the bedroom and picked up a cigarette from
a box that lay there with a bottle.
"I thought so. Russia!" he said,
and in answer to Pike's look of inquiry
went on, "That man, your friend, who calls himself Von Groellerhagen, is not a German—he is a Russian—not only that—he is a Russian noble. I see it in a hundred ways that you cannot."
"He helped us this afternoon," said
Daniel, but Ivanoff did not seem to hear him.
"I have felt it inevitable that I should go back to Siberia ever since I came here."
"Perhaps," began Daniel, but the other interrupted.
"There is no 'perhaps' for me. There has never been a 'perhaps' since I met Helene, my wife—she who sent me to the mines, she and my dear English friend."
For a moment Daniel was thoughtful; then he looked up quickly.
"What was his name?" he asked.
"Glenwood—I shall never forget it,"
the Russian replied. "He had contracts with the ministry of finance.
He supplied hydraulic machinery to the government. The name Glenwood means nothing to you, and there are a million Helenes in France. I prayed God to let me meet them before I was taken, but"—He paused as a knock came upon the door. "It is the carabinieri!" he said hoarsely and sprang back.

"Not yet," answered Pike quietly.
"Go back to your room. We won't throw our hands into the discard until we're called, and I guess we'll keep on raising." He waited a moment until Ivanoff had retired and then opened the door. Mariano stood without bowing.

"Mlad! Creach—she ask you would speak with her a few minutes," he said.
"Where is she?" asked Pike.
"Here, sir," replied the man.
"Tell her to come right in. Ah, come in, ma'am," he went on as Lady Creach appeared to the doorway. When he had closed the door behind her she said coldly:

"My brother-in-law feels that some one well acquainted with Miss Granger-Stimpson's ambitions and her inner nature should put the case finally to rest before we proceed to extremities,"
she said.

"Yes, ma'am," answered Daniel.
"My brother-in-law has made us aware of the state of affairs, and we are all quite in sympathy as to what should be done to you, but in the kindness of our hearts we condone your offense—if you accede to our reasonable demands."

Daniel looked at his watch.
"In twenty minutes?" he asked.
"In twenty minutes," she replied
frigidly.

"You say he told all of you. Did he tell Miss Ethel?" Daniel asked.
"It has not been thought proper.
Young girls should be shielded from
everything disagreeable," she answered
pompously, and Daniel grinned.

"Yes, ma'am," he said. "That was
the idea that got me into this trouble.
You see, I know your interest in her.
I've handled all her accounts."

"If you don't mind we'll omit all
tradesmanlike references," remarked
the old lady acidly. "It has been suggested that you make this opposition
frigidly."

"You say he told all of you. Did he
tell Miss Ethel?" Daniel asked.
"It has not been thought proper.
Young girls should be shielded from
everything disagreeable," she answered
pompously, and Daniel grinned.

"Yes, ma'am," he said. "That was
the idea that got me into this trouble.
You see, I know your interest in her.
I've handled all her accounts."

"If you don't mind we'll omit all

the old lady acidly. "It has been suggested that you make this opposition

"It has not been thought proper.

everything disagreeable," she answered
pompously, and Daniel grinned.

can't you?"
"One never knows," replied Lady Creach loftily. "We had thought to offer her an alliance with a family
that for 700 years—"

"Yes, ma'am, I know—Creach and Agliocourt," interjected Pike, but she paid no attention.

"—has never been sullied by the low
ideals of trade and barter?"
"Wait a minute, Mrs. Creach," said
Daniel quickly, tugging at his coat
pocket. "I've got a letter right here
that tells me your brother-in-law was in business—and I respect him for it—
only a few years ago."

"A letter from whom?" demanded
the lady angrily, rising.

"Jim Conley, our vice consul at London. He says Mr. Hawcastle"—
"Mr. Hawcastle?" ejaculated Lady Creach.

PUBLIC SQUARE.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

NEW PHONE 1717

It was a merry crowd that gathered on the Public Square on Saturday evening to join in the Hay Riding party given by Mr. A. J. Miller, about seven miles west of the city. Singing of the quartette consisting of Messrs. Jeffries, Black and Ryan was also enjoyed and after partaking of a bounteous supper the guests all departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Miller many happy returns of the day. Those who enjoyed the ride were:

Misses Anna Roush, Ethel Renwick, Leona Moore, Elizabeth Goldon, Clara Burden, Florence Heldmer, Anna Langbrook, Cora Metz, Jerusha Shappell, Mabel Miller, Ethel Mash and Villa Conrad. Messrs. Al. Borden, Earl Broderick, Chas. Sands, Pete Hadsett, Clarence Myers, Rolly Miller, Milt Miller, Earl Miller, William Black, Cecil J. Jeffries, John Ryan, and Arthur A. Shoup, and the host and hostess Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Miller.

They returned to Lima in the wee small hours of Sunday morning and all report a fine time. From one who was there.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. Bert Corwin of north Elizabeth street has as her guest relatives Mrs. William Hiseley and two sons, Robert and Ralph, of Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Don Darron, of Ann Arbor, Mich., was in town, Sunday.

Miss Helen Hutchins, of Sandusky, is visiting Hazel Henton, of this city.

Mrs. Jonathan Traver and her little grand-daughter, Ruth White, will leave Tuesday morning for a month's visit with relatives in Louisville, Ky.

Miss Cecil Dillon, of Toledo, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Callahan, of west North street.

Mrs. E. R. Gallagher, of west Spring street, accompanied by her guests, Mrs. Jerry Angelmore, of Rochester, Ind., and Miss Mildred McEltriff, of Chicago, spent yesterday with relatives in Toledo.

IN HOTEL CORRIDORS.

Auto parties are just now composing welcome guests at the various hotels. This is the dull season for big hostesses, but their patronage is being boomed through the many auto tourists who stop as transients yesterday, and the Lima House entertained some, six or seven, while the Manhattan from morning until late last night was caring for the gasoline tourists.

Barney Oldfield the famous automobile driver is at the Lima House. With him are a party consisting of Mrs. Oldfield, James Ryan and Mrs. Harvey.

An auto party from Van Wert, consisting of Dr. and Mrs. McGovern, Mrs. D. A. Johns, Nan V. Johns, and Mr. J. H. Hackett, of Akron, are at the Norval.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Camden, N.J.—"It is with pleasure that I add my testimonial to your already long list—hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of this valuable medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from terrible headaches, pain in my back and right side, was tired and nervous, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health and made me feel like a new person, and it shall always have my praise."
—Mrs. W. P. VALENTINE, 605 Lincoln Avenue, Camden, N.J.

"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."
—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 89, Gardiner, Me.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

CONTRACT

FOR THE ERECTION OF A NEW WAREHOUSE AT DELPHOS

WILL BE AWARDED IN THE NEAR FUTURE—LOCAL ARCHITECTS ARE ALL BUSY.

The building business in Lima is booming. All the architects are very busy with plans for new buildings in the city and near-by places.

Besides the tuberculosis hospital contract, which was awarded them last week, McLaughlin & Hutchen have the contract for a thirty thousand dollar warehouse, to be built for the Delco-Wemmer Co., at Delphos. Mr. McLaughlin and Mr. Wemmer went to Delphos Monday morning, to award the contract for the excavating.

Bids for the Elks' club building are to be received Friday. Nine people are figuring on the contract, and it looks as if the competition will be keen.

Leech & Leech have much work on hand, and have been making a number of sketches lately.

SUB-STATION
ON THE LIMA-SPRINGFIELD LINE IS BEING RE-BUILT.

The machinery at the sub-station on the Lima-Springfield division of the Ohio Electric Lines was badly injured by the storm of a week or so ago. It had to be entirely rebuilt, and consequently the cars have been running in and out of Springfield about ten or fifteen minutes behind the schedule time.

The service was not affected at the Lima end of the line and often made up part of their lost time by the time they got to Lima. The work at the sub-station will be completed Wednesday, and the cars will once more be running through on schedule time.

For Sake of Humanity He Suffered Hardships

Was at Last Rewarded by a Great Discovery.

The great scientist devoted twenty years of his life to travel and study for the betterment of humanity and was at last rewarded by a discovery that is today killing hundreds of homes with health and happiness. Hundreds of letters of thanks are being received from every direction; and while money is a much needed thing the scientist in an interview said: "I would gladly give every dollar I have and every dollar I ever expect to have, if all the people now suffering with stomach troubles understood the wonderful merits of Root Juice. It is a compound that heals and tones the blood-making and blood-filtering organs. It creates a healthy appetite, prevents fermentation of food in the stomach and bowels, cleanses the system, stops bloating, belching, and heart burn. It removes all causes of constipation and kidney symptoms. In after effects of la grippe, when the general health is bad, Root Juice has a truly wonderful toning action on the whole system. The great remedy is sold for $1 a bottle, at W. M. Melville's drug store."

TOLEDO FIRM READY TO BEGIN WORK ON STREET LINE TO TRAVERS.

Special to the Daily News
Defiance, O., July 26.—Although the Ohio Electric railway has the necessary material stored in its yards in this city, the company is not making any move toward keeping its agreement regarding the building of its tracks within the city limits. The board of public service has taken the question up with the officials of the road at Lima, and unless immediate action is taken by the railway company, it will lose its twenty-five year franchise in this city, as well as the $5,000 guaranty deposit.

The Toledo Asphalt Block company, which has the contract for the second street improvement, will begin work next week. This is one of the streets included in the railway company's grant.

According to the understanding of the city officials with the Ohio Electric, unless the company lays its tracks on that portion of Second street about to be paved, before the work is commenced, the company will be barred.

STYLES FOR THE OUTDOOR GIRL

SENSIBLE AND BECOMING COSTUMES FOR SUMMER SPORT

THE OUTDOOR GIRL

Now that the season has come when we who are dwellers in cities flee to the mountains or seashore, our thoughts turn to outdoor life and to the clothes we shall wear in order to thoroughly enjoy it. No woman is today fool enough not to make an effort to adopt her costume in vacation time to the vacation spirit. Banished are frills and turbulences, and in their place comes simplicity and comfort. Becomingness, however, is still ardently desired and as suggestions along the lines of suitability and attractiveness, I have selected the outdoor sporting costumes, which I am using as illustrations. In planning for your outing, I hope you will find them helpful.

Bathing-Suit in Princess Style

A very simple little model of pleated taffeta is shown here, the fastening being made beneath the central box-pleat at the front. The suit is of black taffeta and cuffs, collar and piping at the skirt hem are of black-and-white striped silk. The cap has a gay little bow of the striped silk. All the summer girls of 1909 will carry parasols with their bathing-suits—a really sensible notion while one is lounging on the blistering sand.

A New Bathing-Suit Model

Very graceful indeed is this pretty little suit of black satin, which is made in an entirely new way. The bodice is formed of the satin closely tucked and cut on the bias, a seam coming down the center-front and the upper edge of the tucking falling over the little puffed sleeve. Bias bands of striped silk give brightness to the suit, and the plain circular skirt accords well with the oddly-cut bodice.

Summer Riding Habit of Linen

The fair horsewomen who enjoy their favorite exercise in the South, and some of the younger women who ride in Central Park, ride astride, and this cool linen habit is designed for this method of riding. The skirt is cut in divided fashion and falls gracefully on either side of the horse when its wearer is seated in the saddle. When afoot the skirt hangs like any ordinary linen walking skirt in trotabout length. The coat of this habit is one of the natty little hip reefers which swing clear of the horse when the rider is seated.

Simple Tops for Tennis

The good tennis-player never cares to be bothered with frills. Her garb must be neat as possible, but the sort of garment which will not get in the way or be whipped by the wind when she flashes about the court. This comfortable short-skirt is of white madras and the neck is collarless in this year's cool fashion. An inset facing of blue linen edges the neck and tailored cuffs of the blue linen finish the loose sleeves.

One of the New Athletic Sweaters

This bonnie lassie in her plaid jacket might be setting forth a salmon fishing in the North Scotland streams. A very pretty notion it is—this trimming of plaided bands on the new wool sweaters, and these sweaters are sure to be popular with the younger women. To match the sweater, there is a comfortable Panama hat wound loosely with a dotted ribbon scarf which repeats the color of the plaid.

THE HIGH WAIST-LINE SKIRT

The skirt with high waist-line requires an under-support at the waist, whether it be fitted closely or allowed to hang loosely, without curving in at the waist-

line. While the curveless line is the newer fashion, it is not invariably the most becoming, and must be a matter of individual arrangement. Whether the skirt be closely fitted or not, the supporting girdle is shaped exactly to the figure-lines and boned at the seams; then the skirt is adjusted to it in accordance with the directions for bringing together corresponding perforations. A complete one-piece costume may, however, be made by draping the skirt from the waist-lining and omitting the supporting girdle. In this way any suitable waist may be united with a skirt into the desired costume, the perforations on the girdle, that are the guides in draping the skirt correctly, being transferred to corresponding positions on the waist-lining. A lining that extends two or three inches below the waist-line should be used, or the regulation staple lining, that extends well down over the hips.

Fixing the Lining

The lining is fitted and boned, and hooks and eyes are sewed at the center-front or center-back edge—whichever has been decided upon as the place of closing. A lining of this length is boned in the same manner as a full-length princess lining. The bones extend above the waist five or six inches (depending upon the figure), and below the waist-

SUMMER RIDING HABIT

line only far enough to reach the turn of the hips. If too long, the ends will show as points through the garment. In boning a lining of this length, the bone-

WHEN THE FISH BITE WELL

casting is turned under at the lower end and finished, the same as at the top, with about one-half inch of bone free from the seam, but covered with the end of the bone-covering.

A SIMPLE TENNIS COSTUME

Goring Waist and Skirt. When the waist-lining has been fitted and boned and the skirt cut and basted, the time has arrived for them to be fitted to each other, and here the girdle support has its use, though it is not included in the completed garment, the boned waist-lining taking its place. If the waist-line is not marked by perforations on the waist-lining, mark it, at the final fitting, by pinning a length of tape around the waist.

The skirt pattern has its waist-line indicated by perforations. These were, of course, transferred to the cloth when the skirt was cut, and, marked, by tailor's tacks before the sections were separated. When the skirt goes are basted together, these tack-threads will form a continuous line around, corresponding to the regulation waist-line of the skirt. On the girdle pattern an upper row of perforations indicates the high waist-line of the skirt, the girdle extending above this line for a possible outside girdle finish that may be desired in some instances.

Measure the pattern of the girdle on the waist-lining, with the waist-line perforations even with the waist-line of the girdle, and mark on the lining the position of the upper row of perforations. Mark with chalk or with pins, and connect into a continuous line by a line of basting-stitches or a strip of tape.

Another Method

There is another way of ascertaining the correct position these two lines

should occupy on the waist-lining. While it involves a little more trouble, it is rather more accurate, particularly for the dressmaker without great experience. Even an experienced dressmaker will prefer to be extra cautious when she first attempts a new style that has some novel points of construction. It is a simple matter to cut a girdle, using the provided pattern and odd scraps of cambric lining. Cut this carefully, as close to the figure as possible, and fit the girdle over the waist-lining, with the waist-line perforations of the girdle directly at the natural waist-line of the figure.

Transfer these perforations, and those for the high waist-line, to the fixed waist-lining by pinning through both linings at each set of perforations, then turning over the edge of the girdle and making a continuous line of basting-stitches on the waist-lining, using the folded edge of the girdle as a guide. The girdle has now served its purpose, and may be removed, but kept with the pattern for future use. A well-fitted girdle support may be put to several practical uses.

Draping the Skirt

The skirt is now to be draped to the waist-lining, pinning its upper edge to the line indicated for it on the lining. The skirt may be fitted, at the normal waist-line, as close to the figure as desired, making of the completed gown a princess or Directoire model, as either one or the other may be more becoming. With waists of the bolero type, the waist portion usually overlaps the top of the skirt, even when the latter is finished with a girdle in either crush or plain strap form.

When a waist in regulation waist-length is adopted with the skirt into a one-piece costume, it should be draped on the lining before the skirt, and the excess material, below the traced high waist-line, cut away. A high-cut skirt, mounted on its supporting girdle, may be worn as a separate skirt over almost any regulation-length waist, but such an arrangement will result in several unnecessary layers of material about the waist, and is hardly desirable for even a slender figure.

The girdle-supported skirt is, however, particularly well adapted for wear with an unlined linen or silk waist. The necessity for an extra belt or girdle is avoided, and there is no danger of the unsightly separation at the back between skirt-belt and outside belt. The lingerie waist, being thin, will not appreciably increase the size of the waist.

Consider Your Figure

It is by no means a hard-and-fast rule that the pattern's high waist-line must be made the same actual line at the top of every skirt. You may have some deviation of figure which, though slight, has necessitated some alteration, fitting in the vertical lines of waist and skirt, and it is quite as important that the few horizontal lines shall be individually suitable. The same position of hands and flounces cannot be expected to be equally suitable for a 39-inch and a 43-inch skirt length.

Correspondingly, a shorter length from neck to waist-line may require that the high skirt-line be lowered a bit. It is easily understandable that a stout figure may not gracefully wear a very broad girdle. For best effects, the latter's breadth should diminish proportionately with the inches that are added to bust and waist measure. On general principles, one piece of advice to a stout woman is to avoid horizontal lines.

Breaking the Waist-Line

The skirt's high waist-line may be broken to good effect by brette-like straps, that cross the shoulders and extend down on the skirt, over the natural waist-line. They should be braided or otherwise trimmed.

VISITING IN TOWN AND COUNTRY

Forms and Usages to be Observed

THERE are many meanings of the word "visit," and the subject might be divided in several parts and still admit of subdivisions. Complications and problems are constantly arising in the ever-changing conditions of modern life, especially in small towns and country neighborhoods.

It may be well to discuss first the ordinary and conventional etiquette which applies to making calls on one's friends or on new acquaintances; next, a few rules about general visiting, both in paying and receiving calls, and finally the etiquette to be observed in visits made to friends in summer-time, over Sunday, or for days or a week.

Making of spirit calls.—Of making a call, it is said, "it is the rule of leaving." Now we know, making it a rule to leave, "When I find, where it is, I will leave." It is a rule to leave, it is a rule to leave.

In small places many persons seem to imagine that to leave one's visiting card is an indication, or that it expresses very formal intentions when extreme cordiality is the object of one's visit. It should be remembered that a card represents its owner; it gives one's street address; it reminds a hostess that one has called; it is not at home if it informs her of one's visit.

An important thing to be understood is that a card is never given to the person on whom one is calling. Such a mistake would mark one as ignorant of the first principles of good manners.

the obvious thing and ask if Mrs. So-and-So is at home.

If a very young member of the family comes to the door a visitor may say simply, "Is your mother at home?" If admitted, one would give one's name and lay one's card on the hall table or any convenient place. If not admitted one would say, "Please say that Mrs. Blank called," and one would not leave a card under these exceptional circumstances.

Welcoming the New Arrival.—An aspect about calling which troubles some persons is when an older resident, a stranger, calls on a new-comer in town. This custom prevails in small places, although not in cities, unless there are friends in common and one has been asked by a friend to call on a new resident. The proper thing to do when calling on a stranger is to send up one's card by a servant, but here the difficulty sometimes may be that servants are out or the only servant—the housemaid—may be busy engaged, and the lady on whom one is calling is obliged to open the door herself.

In that case the visitor must introduce herself simply by saying, "I am Mrs. Blank." The hostess should receive her cordially, shaking hands immediately and allowing the visitor to precede her when entering the parlor. When the visitor is leaving, the hostess accompanies her to the door. If other visitors are present, a hostess must not leave them, but must permit the departing visitor to go out alone to the hall.

If a man calls and a hostess is obliged, for lack of servants, to open the door, she precedes him in entering the parlor. A man must leave his hat, overcoat and stick in the hall. A woman must not accompany a man to the hall when he is leaving.

Those who live in suburban places should not expect friends from a city to go to the country to make a call.

guest, specifying the time of the visit and giving exact dates, from Saturday to Monday, or from Wednesday to Saturday, or for a week, as the case may be, mentioning the train by which the guest shall arrive.

A reply must be prompt and definite and the dates must be repeated. It is unpardonable to say, "I will come if I can." This doubtful reply would disturb all possible plans of a hostess. Serious misunderstandings may arise unless these points are observed.

When a young man is invited to stay at a house, the invitation is sent invariably by the mother, never by a daughter. A guest's duty is to be agreeable, tactful, good-natured, to fall in with any plan of action or amusement proposed; to know when to keep out of the way, to go to one's room and read or write; to remember that a hostess does not want a guest always with her.

Older persons to be observed are never to pluck flowers in the grounds; never to injure books; to return books to their places; never to drive a horse too far; if a horse is placed at a guest's disposal, to remember to give a fee to the maid who cared for one's room. Above all, it is obligatory after one's departure to write a note to one's hostess telling her of the pleasure of the visit.

Visiting Cards

One's visiting card is engraved from a plate, not printed and never written. Script is in good taste. The full name with a prefix is used—Miss Mary Emily Johnson. A married woman has her husband's full name on her card and a widow is entitled to the same privilege; thus, Mrs. Robert Henry Mason.

Household Silver

As a general rule, every one when beginning housekeeping is supposed to have a certain amount of silver for general use, as well as additional silver for occasional use. One would require in small silver one dozen large forks, one dozen small forks, one dozen table-spoons, one dozen dessert-spoons, one or two dozen teaspoons, one dozen coffee-spoons. The reason more teaspoons are needed is because if one were having an afternoon tea it is necessary to have plenty of teaspoons, and even with the use of coffee-spoons one would require a number of guests. Of course, a servant must be in attendance at a tea to "carry away" soiled silver and china and bring a fresh supply. 2. Dessert-spoons may be used for ices, although forks are preferred for almost all desserts, except soft desserts, viz.: custards, jellies, preserves, or any dessert served with cream. 3. After-dinner coffee is always hot and is served in summer as well as at other seasons. 4. Oysters on the shell are supposed to be in season from September to April, inclusively. They are served as a first course, at dinner. 5. Sherry and sauterne are sufficient wines for an informal dinner. 6. A silver dish with growing ferns may be used as a centerpiece on one's dining table, unless flowers are obtainable, or a dish of silver, glass, or china containing fruit may be used.

Will and Shall

The correct and incorrect use of "will" and "shall" may be remembered if you understand that will refers to the exercise of the will; shall implies obligation or owing. Thus, you should say, "What shall I do?"—not "What will I do?" Misuse of words is shown in the expression, "The house is on Fifth Avenue."

The proper phrase is, "in Fifth Avenue." It is correct to say, "She is quite deaf," not, "She is hard of hearing." "She has no control over her children," not, "of her children." "She has red hair," not, "she is red-headed."

The Privileges of Mourning

It is not customary for a person in deep mourning to go to a wedding, unless it is the marriage of a very near relative, or very intimate friend. In that case one might go and would lighten the mourning a little for the occasion, not wearing crape trimmings, and of course leaving off a veil. Persons in mourning are always invited to general affairs, viz.: weddings, teas, large or general receptions, because it is an act of courtesy to those who send out general invitations to remember all friends; but they are not under obligation to attend. Their mourning is supposed to be a sign that they have retired from social life for a certain period, and they have rights and privileges which are not accorded to others.

A PATRIOTIC POVERTY PARTY

Where the Total Expense is Under Five Dollars. The entire cost of this entertainment for thirty-two people is under five dollars, which is, of course, a very small sum to spend on a party of any kind, and as this one is extremely amusing, as well as instructive, it is sure to be a success. As July 4th is nearly always very warm, the arrangements must all be made accordingly; and it will be much pleasanter if it is possible to have the table for supper out under the trees, though that may be out of the question for many who would like to give such a party.

wads of white cotton batting, and twist at the top so that they look like giant torpedoes, with the writing inside, pasted on the top of each a slip bearing the name of the invited one clearly written on it, with directions to "open carefully."

Whether the party is to be in the afternoon or evening, the refreshments may be the same, and, with the exception of the sandwiches, they can all be prepared the day before, or early in the morning, so that there need be no extra work at the last minute.

Favors Early

As each one enters the room, give a favor, which will determine who shall be their partner in the coming game. For the favors—there must be two of each—torpedoes—like the invitations, only made of silk with sachet powder inside; bunches of small torpedoes tied together with ribbon, matching them by the number on the string; firecrackers in different sizes, made of red and pasted around cotton, with a fuse of string; tiny flags, matched by the size; pointed caps of tissue-paper, matching by color. All these may easily and cheaply be made at home.

A Patriotic Game

For the game, one box of cheap black-and-white checkers will be needed for each table; fasten a small nickel screw-eye in the center of each checker, and on the other side paste slips of paper bearing the names of American and British commanders who fought at the different forts during the Revolutionary War. Choose one American and one Englishman for each fort, and at that table have all the checkers with either one of the names of the commanders, dividing them unevenly, so that there may be no way of telling who is who until they are caught.

At one table there may be only two checkers bearing the name of the American commander, and all the rest labeled for the Englishman, while at other tables America may predominate; and at one they may be divided evenly. But do not use one color for either side; divide so that no one can possibly tell to which country the men belong until they are caught.

Each table must be designated by the name of one of the forts, by having a triangular pennant floating from the center of the table, with the name clearly painted in white. These pennants are of red and blue tissue-paper, pasted on 16-inch sticks, with a small roll of lead wound around base of each stick to make it stand firm and straight. Make the pennants as different as possible—one may be entirely of red, another of blue, a third half-and-half; many different effects may be obtained, but the name should always be white. Make the poles for fishing out of 12-inch sticks, well sandpapered and finished with a 6-inch string, with bent pin attached.

How the Game is Played

Four play at each table, and when the signal is given by beating a small drum, each player takes a line, and tries to hook as many of the commanders as possible before the signal is given to stop. As it only takes a few minutes for this, there should be several rounds at each table before moving.

Only Americans are counted, and the pair who have caught the greatest number moves up to the next table, and have a tiny flag or star pasted on their tally-card.

Prizes

Prizes for the lady and gentleman who have caught the greatest number of Americans must, of course, for a poverty party, be made at home. A veil-roll for the lady's most attractive, made of a pasteboard mailing tube, covered with a thin layer of perfumed cotton batting, having red silk sewed closely over, and then ends covered to resemble a gift firecracker, with a fuse attached to one end.

This will keep any number of veils in perfect condition if rolled over it. For the man another firecracker is made in the same manner, but without the sachet, and having a ribbon loop to hang it up with; any man will greatly appreciate this little holder, and only too glad to have a prize which is really of some use.

Booby prizes in the shape of cocked hats may easily be made out of the small size paper paste cases; lay one on a circle of paper several inches larger than the case, and tack the paper up to the case in three places, finishing one of them with a stiff cord, and red and blue paper. Fill with homemade lemon or peppermint drops, and a regulation cocked hat is ready for the "winning" booby.

The Supper Table

Trim the supper table with bands of red and blue tissue-paper, and use paper napkins. Have theiced tea in huge glass pitchers, large trays of sandwiches, cookies piled up on round plates, and the sherbet in a large glass bowl. This is to be served in cones, such as are seen at restaurants, and one of the shapes may be borrowed for the occasion.

As each cone or fort is put on a plate, stick a tiny flag in the top, and the division will be complete. Make the sandwiches of thin bread and butter, egg slice for each sandwich; roll and tie with red and blue ribbons. Several nasturtium leaves on each slice before rolling is a great improvement, or watercress may be used; both are easily obtained, and are especially refreshing in summer. Water cookies, of either ginger or lemon, should be all the cake needed, and the sherbet is a simple raspberry water ice, with beaten whites of two eggs stirred in just before serving.

When You Receive Your Salary Check

It would be a good time to start your bank account or add something to the one you are already carrying. A good idea would be to deposit the entire amount received and make checks for your bills. In this way you could permit your monthly "appropriation" to remain to your credit after everything has been paid. Every month that you increase will be a step on the road to independence, and it will soon surprise you how fast your balance grows. Profit by the experience of others, for the successful men who are enjoying comforts now are those who started by saving. Modern progress has made a bank account within the reach of every one.

What 8,000,000 Women Want

You have no idea how much the women are doing to make this world a better place to live in. The historian of the future will peer over his specs and sagely observe that the woman's movement of 1909 was one of the great events in the world's history.

Woman's progress started in the literary clubs that met to read Browning and discuss Renaissance Art and other high-brow things. Now the club women are just about on the verge of bossing everything between the two seas.

Certainly, this is a matter you will enjoy looking into. Rheta Childs Dorr has written a splendid article on the subject. In

THE TELEPHONE AS AN INTERPRETER

By F. A. MITCHELL
(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

"Hello, Simmons. Got back all safe, I see. Had a good time?"
"Well, yes; rather."
"You look as if you hadn't. Anything unpleasant happened?"

"I don't exactly—well, they tell me there's a certain time in a man's life when he doesn't know whether he's done a very big thing or a very little one."

"Haven't got into trouble on account of one of your practical jokes, have you?"

"It's something like that. Come here and sit down. I'll tell you."

They had met in a city park. Simmons led the way to a bench. They seated themselves, and he began his tale of woe.

"When I was in Paris, at the pension where I stopped—they call 'em pensions over there; we call 'em boarding or haub houses here—was a French girl. I took a kind of shine to her, and I fancied she took a kind of shine to me, but neither of us could speak a word of the same language. I met Turpin over there. Remember Turpin? Red-headed chap with big nose on his left cheek. He and I played jokes on each other. One day I told a gendarme to watch him for a suspicious character and had a lot of fun out of it."

"Oh, you did, did you?"

"Yes, well, the girl I was telling you about—it was a tantalizing business, sitting along side of her without being able to say anything to her, so I wrote out some things such as 'I'm sorry I can't talk to you' and 'Will you walk with me this afternoon in the Bois de Boulogne?' and all that. Then I asked Turpin—Turpin speaks French tolerably well, you know—to write out the French for these sentences. He did so, and it helped things along amazingly with the girl. Turpin told me that 'Good morning' in French was 'Bonjour' or something like that, and I noticed that she blushed every time I said it."

"Do you know what 'Toi que j'aime' means?"

"Yes, 'good morning' of course."
"Hate! It means 'I love you.'"

Simmons stood paralyzed with surprise for a moment and then went on: "I learned from people in the house that the girl's father had been well off, but he had lost all his property and then up and died, leaving his daughter with little or nothing. I felt sorry for her, and—well, I expect I looked it. At any rate when April came, and I started for Rome I saw a tear in her eye. It made me uneasy, for I wasn't thinking about getting mixed up in any affair, especially with a girl I couldn't talk to, but when I got on the train I forgot all about it, supposing the girl would do the same. Turpin and I went down to Rome together, and he didn't seem to think I'd done anything out of the way, and this satisfied me."

"One day, a month later, while walking down via Cavour—that's Cavour street, you know—in Rome, who should I meet but my French girl, and what do you suppose she was doing?"

"What?"

"Crying. She was so distressed about something that she didn't see me. I spoke to her, and you should have seen the relief light up her face."

"The only thing I could remember to say to her in French was 'Good morning,' so I said 'Toi que j'aime.' She burst into a fresh crying spell. I was dying to know why she was in Rome and what was the matter, but how could I since she could only jabber French at me? Then a happy thought struck me. Turpin could act as interpreter. Of course I couldn't take her to Turpin, but I might get him on a telephone and he could tell each of us what the other said. Good idea, eh?"

"Very."

"I stepped into a place where there was a telephone sign and succeeded in getting Turpin just as he was starting out to visit the Roman aqueduct ruins. I told him what had happened; then I took the receiver and he translated the story to me. She'd answered an ad. of a Roman family for a governess to teach the children French and had been sent for to come to Rome. She was delayed for want of funds, and when at last she arrived found the family had been called suddenly to Berlin. Well, she was in a pickle."

"I telephoned Turpin to tell her that I begged she would accept funds from me to return to Paris. Turpin told her. She dropped the receiver on a table and her head on my shoulder. Then she took my arm, and the next thing I knew we were in one of those measly thousand-year-old churches over there. The girl jabbered French to a priest, which he seemed to understand, and a little English, too, for he told me that to be married I must go through the proper forms."

"It was that rascally Turpin. He'd told her that I asked her to marry me and go to America with me."

"What did you do?"

"What could I do? Go back on a thing like that? We were married and here I am."

"Well, old man, I'll call on your wife tonight, and after I've seen her and talked with her—I speak some French myself, you know—I'll tell you whether Turpin has done you a good or an evil turn."

The promise was kept and, after the call, on the doorstep the friend said: "It's a 'horse' on Turpin; he should have got your wife for himself. You've had a big stroke of luck."

KANSAS WHEAT YIELD WAS UNDERESTIMATED

THRASHING REPORTS BEAR OUT THE JUNE REPORTS OF BIG CROPS.

Harvesting has reached the northern limit of the winter wheat belt, says the special report of Finley Barber & Co. Thrashing returns received from the southwest bear out June reports of increased yield. A systematic canvass of thrashing returns from every county in Kansas indicates a winter wheat yield of more than 1,000,000 bushels. Other sections of the wheat belt report similarly heavy yields, and it is now generally acknowledged that the winter wheat yield has been somewhat under-estimated.

Spring wheat has reached the critical period of filling, and upon the weather of the next few days depends the size of the yield. Reports from both sides of the border indicate the crop this year has been phenomenally free from severe storms, and has suffered almost no loss from any cause except on low grounds, where in some localities wheat has been drowned out by heavy rains. This, however, has been more than offset by the increase on higher ground. Geo. M. Le Count, who is covering the country this side of the border, writes from Eldorado, N. D., as follows:

"I have been watching the weather closely during the last few days, and the crops came through the hot spell without damage. The hot weather was preceded by a week of favorable, cool, dry weather, and the plant was in fine condition to withstand the hot weather of the last few days. The crop is in excellent condition in the different parts of the northwest that I have visited, except in southern Minnesota there is some low land that will not make a crop, but this is more than offset by the increase on higher ground. South Dakota has the best crop the state ever raised, and it is almost made; the heads are filling finely and barley harvesting has already commenced. In the vicinity of Ellendale the crop is early. I saw Durum wheat on July 21 that was nearly ripe and that will be harvested within a few days, and all fields are beginning to turn a little yellow. Harvesting should commence in ten or twelve days. The weather has turned cool and favorable again, and the acreage is increased this year."

UNTRUE

Is Report That Hospital Would Not Receive Bunnell

WORD IS SENT TO PROBATE JUDGE HUTCHINSON THAT THE INSANE MAN MAY COME.

THE INSANE FIREBUG HAS BEEN TAKEN AWAY

AND MAY NOW BREAK INTO THE LIMELIGHT BY ATTEMPTING TO BURN TOLEDO ASYLUM.

Sunday the Toledo Blade appeared with a glowing account, dated from Lima, that the state hospital for the insane at Toledo, would not receive Wm. Bunnell, found to be insane before the jury that tried Christian Gieger. There is absolutely no foundation for the story, and Judge Hutchinson emphatically denied such a condition of affairs this morning. To try a man for insanity before a jury of twelve men is an unusual procedure and one seldom done, never before in the records of Allen county, but it is perfectly legal. The probate court's application to the Toledo hospital was couched in the following terms:

This day this cause came on to be heard upon a certified copy of the finding of a jury of the court of common pleas of Allen county, Ohio, in the case of William Bunnell, on an inquiry as to whether said Wm. Bunnell is sane or not sane, and the jury having found the said Wm. Bunnell to be not sane, it is therefore the court ordered that a certified copy of the finding of the jury in the court of common pleas be transmitted to the superintendent of the Toledo state hospital for the insane, at Toledo, Ohio, together with an application for the admission of said Wm. Bunnell, and this cause is continued.

JOHN W. HUTCHISON, Probate Judge.

Word was received this morning that Bunnell would be taken in and he was taken up by the sheriff at noon today. Bunnell is the man who developed the strange case of fireman's having been found guilty of burning the Musser barn and later attempting to set the county jail on fire.

PROBATE MATTERS.

The last will and testament of Anna Rankins, late of Delphos, was probated today, and Frank Kruttsch was named as executor. Mr. Kruttsch has not qualified yet.

Word was received from the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics, at Gallipolis, that Rosa Schults would be taken. She was sent down this afternoon.

James Engle, the fourteen-year-old boy brought before Probate Judge Hutchinson for stealing a horse in Bluffton, ran away from the Children's Home yesterday afternoon about 4:30. He is very small for his age, and does not look a day over nine. When last seen he had on a dark colored knee pants suit and a blue shirt. He has light hair and blue eyes and was barefooted. Any information concerning him will be gladly received at the probate office or the Children's Home.

The matron at the home says that Engle was a well-behaved child and a model for the others making their homes at the institution. Those in charge had no suspicion that he was discontented there.

AS BILLBOARDS

Fronts of Closed Saloons in Springfield Will be Used.

Special to the Daily News.

Springfield, O., July 26.—According to the agreement entered into by Prosecutor Lawrence Laybourne the proprietors of 28 soft drink places closed their doors Sunday morning and they will remain closed until September 20, which is the date fixed for the hearing of the cases against 13 of them for violating the Rose law.

Today the fronts of the places were boarded up. Jacob Solenberger purchased a load of fence rails and he will put these in front of his room in South Fountain avenue.

Seven rooms in south Main street, between Limestone and Center streets, will be boarded up. The proprietors have leased the space to a billboard and he will decorate the boards with lithographs.

The local breweries will continue to furnish beer for family use, but orders were issued to sell to no one suspected of bootlegging.

The attempt of the "Complete Reform League" to enforce the blue laws here met with little success, although a report is circulated that many affidavits will be filed against the parties who kept their stores open.

DIED IN TOLEDO.

The young son of Henry Skeer, of the North Side fire department, died in Toledo Sunday night. The remains were brought to Lima Monday at 12 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS.

A committee of nine, from Columbus, Springfield, Dayton, Hamilton, Tiffin, Toledo and other cities, called upon the Hoyer Park management yesterday, to arrange for the annual encampment of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, which will be held here, at the park, August 15th to 22nd. The committee was well pleased with the park grounds and promise a large crowd for the encampment.

Owing to the fact that the manager of the free attraction billed for Hoyer Park, Sunday, did not put in his appearance, the high dive and slide for life was not pulled off. The boy who was to make the flight and dive arrived in time, but would not perform the act without the presence of his manager. The attendance at the park was good and the other attractions were fine and well patronized.

MACHINE

DRIVEN BY E. W. MOSIER TURNS TURTLE NEAR ST. MARYS.

PARTY OF SIX WERE IN THE CAR, BUT MRS. MOSIER WAS ONLY ONE INJURED.

Late yesterday afternoon an automobile which was being driven by E. W. Mosier, of the laundry firm of Mosier & Bell, rolled down the inside bank of the Grand reservoir at a point near St. Marys. Six persons were in the car when it started over the edge of the bank, but of the six, the only one injured was Mrs. Mosier, who had one of her arms severely wrenched and bruised.

The members of the party were Mr. and Mrs. Mosier, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Clark of east High street, Mrs. Fred Herold of north Metcalf street, wife of Letter Carrier Fred Herold, and Miss Mary Stone of St. Marys.

They had been making a run around the bank of the reservoir and on reaching a point where the car had to be backed and turned in order to get into a road leading from the bank to St. Marys, Mr. Mosier brought it to a stop and started to back up a distance of two or three feet in order to make the sharp turn.

The clutch stuck after the engine went into the back motion and Mr. Mosier was unable to stop the car until it toppled over the embankment and turned turtle, landing on the rough stone and concrete at the foot of the levee.

All members of the party regard their escape from death or serious injury as being little short of miraculous.

THE ROUND-UP.

C. C. Miller, former president of Lima college, was down town today showing an improved condition from rheumatism. He is taking Turkish baths with hot applications, which is relieving much of the pain and gradually effecting a cure. These attacks have been yearly with the well-known lecturer, but usually came in March, and he cannot account for the mid-summer siege, save as a result of exposure on the lecture platform when touring in the great north-west.

"I am very much pleased with tax collections," said County Treasurer Jones to the News. "The people have come in well and I am constantly telling them of the closing hour for the books." The treasurer's books are just about ready to pass to the auditor, and taxpayers should avail themselves of the last call.

Interest is being shown in the Lima Chautauqua in the surrounding towns, and the expected announcement of the full program is being awaited anxiously. Manager E. M. Shapwell may have this announcement ready in a few days, and it promises a rare treat in many ways.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steine were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clint Johnson, at the home of the Lewisown grain dealer, and incidentally, Henry is serving fish of his own catch.

Charley Dunlavy and wife spent Sunday at Russell's Point.

Charlie Reynolds and James Robinson were in on the fishing at Lewistown the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Moulton, with Mr. and Mrs. George S. Straw as their guests, made up an auto party which spent the day at the reservoir, with supper at Lake Ridge.

Hundreds of Lima people are taking Franklin's Vegetable Discovery for indigestion and constipation with splendid results. Ask for it, at Melville's drug store. J24-71.

Miss Collins and Miss Callahan were guests of Ottawa friends in a day at Lake Ridge.

Harry Botkins and family are spending a week off Russell's Point and were joined over Sunday by William Botkins.

H. A. Albrecht, of the Wardrobe, is back from a week's fishing outing.

The Steel Works is now working almost to the full capacity, the payroll having gone beyond two hundred employees. All the railroads are placing big orders for cars, and the local plant is getting many of

Barney Oldfield Lewis Chevrolet George Dewitt DARE DEVIL DRIVERS

Every man has gone through the fence several times during his racing career. Oldfield, the peer of American track driving and holder of forty-seven of the fifty track records from one to fifty miles, will pilot his new National Six racer, Old Glory, to victory or through the fence.

Chevrolet, the only European driver who has mastered the American track racing game and holder of the world's fifty mile record, made at Grand Rapids last Friday, and the one kilometer straight way world's record of 19 2.5 seconds, made on Ormond Beach, Florida track, January 25, 1906, not to mention the mile record at the same place and date of 30 3.5 seconds, he has a record of two miles a minute.

DeWitt, the Southern boy, with fifty victories to his credit and a driver who must be restrained by his manager to keep him from reckless driving.

This galaxy of drivers will scintillate at Lima, Tuesday, July 27th, and if the people of Western Ohio do not sit up and take notice it will be a hard matter to determine what manner of amusements the public will enthuse over.

Mr. Oldfield's manager will wager a reasonable amount that he will not eat any dust. Mr. Pickens, the manager of the other two drivers, is equally as emphatic in talking and there should be something doing.

Promoter Lee Beeler is to be commended for arranging such an attractive program. The addition of the Motor Cycle races and other local events, will give Lima one of the finest afternoon cards with speed fanatics at war with chance, that could be arranged.

General Admission Will Be 50c.

In case of rain the races will be postponed until Wednesday afternoon.

the steel contracts, while heavy demands are now being made upon it by the locomotive works, which is enjoying continued new orders daily.

The grand lodge of the Colored Knights of Pythias for the state of Ohio, will hold their state meeting at Lima, next July. The meeting here was secured by State Delegates Ves Young, John Moxley and George Moss.

Allen Graham, Clean Chapman and Cleo Guarrie are at Mt. Clemens, Mich., for a few days, taking in the baths.

Chet Johnson, an old Lima boy, now employed as locomotive engineer in the Barney & Smith car works yards, at Dayton, was here on a visit with relatives and friends last week. He returned to Dayton, Sunday.

John Maxwell, after a six-weeks lay-off, the result of a wound from a prematurely discharged blank cartridge, while assisting in initiatory work in the Order of Owls, at Delphos, is able to be about business again.

Leonard Snyder has been spending a few days at Cincinnati and Covington, Ky., visiting relatives and friends.

S. W. Kiser, a prominent business man, of Ohio City, was in the city today on business.

James Haley, after a few days of slight indisposition, is able to attend to business again.

Sam Biddinger is wrestling with a summer cold, and is laid up at his home with hay fever.

George Monroe, ex-county recorder, of Spencerille, was a business caller in the city yesterday.

Mrs. L. F. Jobe and daughter, Mildred, of Springfield, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blair, of the Electron Flats.

W. W. Wilcox and E. H. Carr, of Spencerille, were in the city, on business, today.

J. A. Parks and Kenneth Rupert, oil producers, of Spencerille, were Lima visitors yesterday.

Franklin's Vegetable Discovery is purely vegetable. It contains no mineral poisons, narcotics or opiates. For sale by F. S. Butler, South Side Drug Store and Melville's Pharmacy. J24-71.

Joe Knipe and W. W. Rupert, of Spencerille, were Lima visitors on Sunday. Mr. Knipe is a breeder of fine horses, and Mr. Rupert is a prominent farmer of that community.
